Course Information
Lectures	Tuesday and Thursday from 11:30 am to 12:50 pm in Room TBA
Course Format	In-Person
Course Description	This course introduces modern macroeconomic theory at the intermediate level. Students will explore how economists measure overall economic activity, what drives long-run economic growth, and how ideas and productivity contribute to growth. The course also examines inflation and short-run economic fluctuations using the IS-MP and AS-AD frameworks, along with the role of monetary and fiscal policies in stabilizing the economy. Throughout the course, these concepts will be applied to real-world economic events, including the Great Recession and the COVID-19 pandemic.
Required Text	Macroeconomics – Charles I. Jones, 6th Edition (5th and 4th Editions are also acceptable)
Additional Resources	Additional resources (e.g. lecture slides, assignments, additional readings) are posted on Moodle. Students are responsible for downloading and saving all course material from Moodle before the end of the semester.
